Speech Department
The Midland College Speech Department offers courses that introduce students to communication theories and skills which lead to the practical application of oral communication in public, small group, interpersonal and intercultural contexts. Students can enhance their ability to speak in front of a group; improve day-to-day communication with others; use communication technology effectively, or complete one of the core general education requirements. The Midland College Speech Department provides small classes that facilitate individualized instruction.

Oral Communication Center
The Center located in Room 140 Allison Fine Arts Building provides computers with word processing and Internet connection. Students have access to an Oral Communication Library and a Performance Studio that facilitates video recording of students’ oral presentations.
