- This course is a survey of U.S. history from prehistoric times through Reconstruction. ### Course Objectives:

- Successful completion of this course will enable students to do the following:
  - Show understanding of how this country developed its institutions, values, mores, lifestyles, religions, and social character through discussion, writing, and other means of examination
  - Discuss U.S. history through the period of Reconstruction
  - Think critically about the major topics in American history, and determine how they relate to the United States today
  - Read, summarize, and be able to react to essays relating to this period

Course Requirements:

Reading:

- Ayers, et al., American Passages, Chapters 1-17, 3rd Edition
- Mills, Faces in the Crowd: "We Hold these Truths" Vol. 1, 4th Edition
- Students are expected to read, write, and understand Standard English.

Exams:

- There will be two midterms and final exam. Each will cover only the materials in the section immediately preceding the exam. The final exam will cover more than the last section of the course, but will focus primarily on the final lectures.
- December 6th is the day for makeup exams. Students who miss an exam will be given the opportunity to make up a single exam on this date.
- Students will be required to take a pre-test (used to give me an understanding of your basic reading, writing, and critical thinking abilities) and a post test (used to illustrate development and improvement in reading, writing, and critical thinking). IN ORDER TO PASS THIS CLASS YOU MUST TAKE BOTH!

Assignments:

- Each student will be responsible for reading articles found in the collection of essays entitled, Faces in the Crowd. Reading Assignments are due on the date indicated in the Lecture Schedule. Late work will be accepted, but at a reduced average.
  - Late one week reduced 50%
  - Late two weeks reduced an additional 50%
  - Work more than two weeks late will not be accepted

Discussion/Class Participation:

- Involvement with the material is essential – students must read, take notes, and ask questions. Students must be prepared to participate in classroom discussion.

Attendance:

- Attendance should be considered mandatory. Role will be taken at the beginning of each class period. Students who are unable to attend class regularly will find it difficult to do well on exams. Attendance is calculated as follows:
  - 0 absences will be worth 20 points.
  - 1 absence will be worth 15 points.
  - 2 absences will be worth 10 points.
  - 3 absences will be worth 5 points.
- If you miss a lecture, be sure to obtain notes from another student. The instructor does not furnish notes.
- Students are expected to arrive on time. If you are going to be late, do not come to class at all. Missing class harms only you; being late is inconsiderate and bothers others. More importantly, do not leave before the conclusion of each class period. This, too, is inconsiderate and really irks your instructor.
- As a common courtesy, I ask that you remove sunglasses and mp3 players. Cell phones should be put on vibrate. Regularly scheduled class periods are also not a time in which you should be compelled to catch up on other reading. Remember we are together to learn history.

Drop/Withdrawing:

- It is not the responsibility of the instructor to drop a student from the course. If the student finds that he/she is unable to keep up with the course requirements, the student must take the responsibility to initiate a drop. The final day to drop is 08 November 2007.

- The Texas Legislature dictates that each college student will be afforded a maximum of six (6) course withdrawals for his/her entire college career. Therefore it is in your best interest to drop prior to the census date – 12 September 2007.

Cheating:

- Any student caught cheating will be rewarded with an “F” for the course and will be dealt with according to Midland College policy. See the Midland College Student Handbook.

Disabilities:

- Any student who, because of a disabling condition, may require some special arrangements in order to meet course requirements should contact your instructor as soon as possible so that the necessary accommodations can be made.

Religious Holy Days

- The Texas Legislature requires institutions of higher education to excuse a student from attending classes or other required activities, including examinations, for the observance of a religious holy day. Absences resulting from needed travel time are also excused. The student will be allowed to make up an exam or given extra time to complete an assignment. No prior notification is required.
