Midland College
Master Syllabus
Government 2305 – Federal Government
On-line Courses

Course Description (3-0)
Origin and development of the U.S. Constitution, structure and powers of the national government including the legislative, executive, and judicial branches, federalism, political participation, the national election process, public policy, civil liberties and civil rights. (Approval Number 45.1002.51.25)

Participation Policy
Students MUST actively participate by completing an academic assignment required by the instructor by the official census date. Students who do not actively participate in an academically-related activity will be reported as never attended and dropped from the course.

Core Objectives
This is a Core Course in the 42-Hour Core of Midland College. As such, students will develop proficiency in the appropriate Intellectual Competencies, Exemplary Educational Objectives, and Perspectives. Midland College Core Curriculum provides information regarding the set of courses that provide the knowledge, skills and educational experiences needed to succeed in higher education. The core objectives are defined by the Texas Higher Education Coordinating Board.

1. Critical Thinking Skills: To include creative thinking, innovation, inquiry, and analysis, evaluation and synthesis of information.
2. Communication Skills: To include effective development, interpretation and expression of ideas through written, oral and visual communication.
3. Personal Responsibility: To include the ability to connect choices, actions and consequences to ethical decision-making.
4. Social Responsibility: To include intercultural competence, knowledge of civic responsibility, and the ability to engage effectively in regional, national, and global communities

Course Goals/Objectives
At the end of the semester, students will be able to:
- Explain the origin and development of constitutional democracy in the United States.
- Demonstrate knowledge of the federal system.
- Describe separation of powers and checks and balances in both theory and practice.
- Demonstrate knowledge of the legislative, executive, and judicial branches of the federal government.
- Evaluate the role of public opinion, interest groups, and political parties in the political system.
- Analyze the election process.
- Describe the rights and responsibilities of citizens.
- Analyze issues and policies in U.S. politics.
Text, References, and Supplies

Instructor may also require electronic resources (Inquizitive) that accompany the book

Assessment
Exam, essays, quizzes, written and/or oral projects/presentations (research, debates, informative overviews, persuasive monologues and/or civic participation) will be used to meet core objectives in the course. The end of the course includes a required essay graded by the department rubric to assess critical thinking, communication skills, and understanding of personal and social responsibility

Student Responsibilities and Class Procedures
- Involvement with the material is essential – students must read, take notes and ask questions.
- Students must attend class regularly and/or check Canvas regularly.
- Students must come to class prepared and be on time and/or prepare for on-line assignments in a timely manner.
- Students are expected to be able to read, write and understand standard English: the course is based on extensive amounts of material given in lecture and/or notes, audio visual aids, and assigned readings.
- A schedule of class events will be given to each student at the beginning of the semester. Additionally, information will be posted on Canvas. It is the student’s responsibility to know exam dates and when assignments are due.
- It is also the responsibility of the student to know their progress in the course.
- If a student is absent when exams are given or assignments are given or due, the student is still responsible for having the work done on time or making up the exam, at the discretion of the instructor.
- If the student takes the initiative the instructor will advise them on their progress in the course.
- Instructors cannot drop students with a “W”, this must be accomplished officially by the student.
- Students with a disability are encouraged to contact the Office of Student Services. It is the student’s responsibility to register with the Office of Student Services when requesting accommodation.
- Students are expected to conduct themselves professionally and courteously in the classroom and/or the on-line environment.
- Students are expected to have academic integrity and to adhere to the guidelines in the Midland College Student Handbook.

Class Schedule
Each instructor completes a class schedule, which appears on the syllabus. Topics covered (in varying order) include:
- U.S. Constitution
- Federalism
- Civil Liberties
- Civil Rights
The Americans With Disabilities Act (ADA) and Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act require that no otherwise qualified person with a disability be denied access to, or the benefits of, or be subjected to discrimination of any program or activity provided by an institution or entity receiving federal financial assistance. It is this Section 504 mandate that has promoted the development of disability support service programs in colleges and universities across the country. Sub-part E of Section 504 deals specifically with this mandate for institutions of higher education.

While it does not require development of special educational programming, for students with disabilities, it does require that an institution (public or private) be prepared to make appropriate academic adjustments and reasonable accommodations to allow the full participation of students with disabilities in the same programs and activities available to non-disabled students. Disabilities may include things such as physical/mobility problems such as paralysis or academic problems like learning disabilities. Some examples of accommodations are extra time for tests, testing in a quiet location, and providing architectural access to buildings.

Midland College is committed to helping students achieve their educational goals. The Disability Services Department at MC helps students with documented disabilities achieve these goals through services including advising, accommodations, and referral. The Disability Services is located in the Scharbauer Student Center Building. Please be aware that services or accommodations are not automatic. Each student must request them and secure the proper authorizations/documentation.
